PROPOSAL TO FIX A STATE WIDE SIZE LIMIT ON LARGE AND SMALL MOUTH BASS

A meeting of this Commission was held in Richmond, Va., January 30, 1942, at which time publication of the proposal hereinafter stated was authorized. A further meeting will be held in Richmond, Va., February 26, 1943, at which time this proposal will be considered and acted upon:

That no large or small mouth bass under ten inches in length may be retained in possession within this State.

By order of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Wm. S. Snow, Chairman.

PROPOSAL TO FIX A STATE-WIDE CLOSED SEASON ON CRAPPIE AND CALICO BASS

A meeting of this Commission was held in Richmond, Va., January 30, 1943, at which time publication of the proposal hereinafter stated was authorized. A further meeting will be held in Richmond, Va., February 26, 1943, at which time this proposal will be considered and acted upon:

That there shall be a closed season for the taking of crappie and calico bass west of the Blue Ridge mountains from December 31st to July 1st, and in all counties east of the Blue Ridge mountains from March 15th to June 15th.

By order of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Wm. S. Snow, Chairman.

You can aid wartime bus service by planning essential trips for February or March—instead of Mid-Summer

Never in history has it been so important to choose with care the time and occasion for travel. Through the years bus travel has always been very heavy in some months, less heavy in others — and this has held true even in wartime when the demands on transportation are naturally increased. That's why Greyhound has long urged everyone to travel during less crowded periods—and February and March are just such times. Essential trips taken in mid-winter will greatly relieve overcrowding in the mid-summer months ahead.

You can aid wartime transportation still further by choosing the right day—in mid-week—and the right schedule—the less crowded one. It's wise to take along as little baggage as possible—and to get information and trip well in advance.

IN MEMORY

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear parents, Mrs. T. Burge Moore who died ten years ago, February 24, and Mr. T. Burge Moore who died one year ago, February 9.

February brings us sad memories
Of our loved ones gone on before,
But we long to see them
Where we'll part no more.

You are gone but not forgotten,
Your dear voice we loved is still.
There's a vacancy in our hearts
That never can be filled.

Oh, how we miss our loved ones,
None on earth can ever know.
But some day we hope to meet you
On that bright and happy shore.

—Children.

MAKE IT ON THE FARM

IN the air over every acre of land there are 75,571,680 pounds of nitrogen. Farming more legumes is the best way of getting more of this nitrogen from the air into the soil. Southern States legume seed assures you better stands and bigger yields for most Southern States legume seed is "Kem-Pax" treated. This treatment wears down and softens the protective coats of clover and alfalfa seeds so that healthy live sprouts emerge uninjured from even the hardest-shelled kernels. "Kem-Pax" treated seed germinates quickly and more completely, so that the crop "gets the jump" on weeds.

All Southern States seed is of known origin, cleaned and reclaimed, processed, tested and guaranteed. Each bag is fully labeled as to germination, purity and weed content. Information FREE with your order of Southern States Legume Seed.

A Week of the War

By Office of War Information

The shortage of skilled labor for war work is not confined to the bulk shortage that shows up in boom towns.. so many thousands job to be filled in this or that war plant.. but in many cases it is a serious qualitative shortage. This is, a limited number of highly trained specialized craftsmen or operators are essential to keeping thunderin' production lines in the Coast have been temporarily halted. The ban on gasoline shipments by this means will make it all the more necessary for local officials to strictly enforce the ban on pleasure driving and the use or gasoline powered boats for other than essential purposes. Private autos may not be used for attending meetings of clubs and organizations even when they perform useful services to the community. On the other hand, the restrictions on all forms of luxury driving will give farmers greater assurance that they will get the gasoline and rubber they need to market their crops, and will reassure war workers as to their transportation needs.

OBITUARY OF MRS. T. A. WALTON

Mrs. Thomas Anthony Walton, formerly of Appomattox, passed away at the home of her nephew, Howard W. Ellett, at Jennings Orchard, Virginia, Friday afternoon, January 29th. Mrs. Walton, who was Virginia Purdum, was the daughter of Emily Brandenburg and Rufus King Purdum; the Purdum family having moved to Appomattox from Maryland many years ago. Mrs. Walton's husband was the late Dr. Thomas A. Walton, who was prominent in the religious and civic life of Appomattox. She is survived by two children, Mrs. Waverly S. Green of Crewe, William Anthony Walton of Disputantae, five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. George Walton, of Burkeville.

Mrs. Walton was a faithful and devoted member of Liberty Baptist Church at Appomattox, where her funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. H. Frederick Jones. Interment was in the family section at Liberty Cemetery.

"Aunt Jennie," as she was lovingly known to her neighbors, is remembered with gratitude for her many acts of kindness. She ministered to the sick, comforted the bereaved and gave liberally to the needy. It may truly be said of her, "She went about doing good." Appomattox was a better place in which to live because of her. Those with whom she came in contact "took knowledge of her that she had been with Jesus and had learned of Him." Her good cheer, ready sympathy, and radiant smile, were the external evidences of her deeply spiritual nature. Her kindness extended to all classes and races. Many there are where she went along who rise up and call her blessed. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints." It would be difficult indeed to compute the weight of her influence upon the young people whom she taught for many years in the Sunday School.

"For all who knew her dread age is past,
She took life tip-toe to the very last!
It never lost for her its lovely look,
She kept her interest in its thrilling book.
To her Death came no conqueror;
in the end,
She merely smiled to greet another friend."

Nicholas Mas To Preach At Memorial Methodist Church At Both Services Sunday

Nicholas Mas

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Wilmer R. Reed, who is instructor for the Conference Board of Education, the Pastor's Class in Christian Workers School, Parksley, Va., Rev. Nicholas Mas, student for the ministry, Lynchburg College, will preach at both services next Sunday.

Mr. Mas is preparing for entrance into the Methodist ministry and is commended as a young man of considerable promise, by his progress thus far.

The pastor would be pleased with a good attendance to welcome Mr. Mas; and so urges all who can to attend the services.

DEATH OF CHILD

Wallace Odell McCormick, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCormick, Jr., died at the Lynchburg Hospital Wednesday, January 27th, of diphtheria.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. C. E. Spain at Hebron Baptist Church. Burial was in the Hebron Cemetery.

Those farmers producing tomatoes for the cannery and others interested are requested to attend a meeting of tomato growers and owners of the cannery at the Court House on Feburary 12, at 8 P. M.

Since this section is fortunate in having a cannery convenient, and knowing you are interested in increasing yields and at the same time improving the quality of the tomato, arrangements have been made to have one of the men from the Vegetable Section at the State Office to discuss with you some important steps necessary in the production, increasing yields and improving the quality of the fruit.

SOUTHERN STATES CO-OP MET AT FARMVILLE

"The production of food and fiber is as much a war industry as the manufacture of ships, planes, guns, and powder, and every farmer must regard his own farm as a production unit in this vital war industry," W. T. Steele, Jr., of Richmond, a representative of Southern States Cooperative, said at a Southern States regional board conference in Farmville the evening of January 22.

The audience of about 83 persons included local Southern States board members and their wives as well as agricultural leaders from Buckingham, Lunenburg, Nottoway, Prince Edward, Campbell, Amherst, Charlotte, Appomattox and Amelia counties. This regional meeting was one of 48 being held throughout the cooperative's territory of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.
